

Food is a Right, not a Privilege Day of Compassion

GLOBAL AWARENESS OF FOOD SHARING PROHIBITION LAWS SUNDAY, APRIL 1, 2012

Purpose: To bring awareness to the general public of the existence of laws that make it a criminal action for an individual to feed a hungry individual.

General notes: This day is intended to make public knowledge of laws, that prevent individuals with food from feeding individuals that are hungry.

Because these laws are little known to public they are running unchecked and proliferating at an incredible rate in each small community and town in the United State.

The goal of this day is to make known there is no RIGHT way to pass out food, there is only passing out as much food as you possibly can.

Currently these laws tell us there is only one way to pass out food in a community and that you either share food in an extremely complicated manner or you risk fine and arrest if the food is not passed through their right food maze.

These laws are preventing people with rescued food from putting it into a hungry mouths and instead, put beautiful edible food into our landfills thus contributing to the pollution of our environment.

We must back the President in his pledge to eradicate childhood (and adult) hunger.

This can only be accomplished through sharing.

THOSE WITH FOOD MUST BE ALLOWED TO SHARE THAT FOOD IN ANY MANNER THAT IS AVAILABLE TO THEM.

(Consider introducing the Bill of Rights on the back of this flyer.)
